What is a Notary?

A notary public is someone who is authorized to witness the signing of important documents and administer oaths. In some cases, a notary may also be a lawyer, paralegal, or law student.

The primary purpose of a notary public is to prevent fraud by:

- verifying the identity of the person signing the document

- ensuring that the person understands the nature of the document they're signing

- ensuring that the person is if sound mind and is signing willingly

Notaries are frequently involved in legal matters where it's important to have an impartial witness to the signing of a particular document. Usually, a notary public will also be required to stamp or seal the document with an official notary seal.
